His Nightmare

"Where am I?" He ask himself that question as he look around.
Everything was dark and foggy.

He then heard a scream. "Lucas!" He froze.

He knew that voice. He ran as fast as he can, not sure where he was going but he just had to find her.

Gun shots were fire and that sound haunted him.

He suddenly end up in an alley, his heart sank because that's when he saw her.

Riley, his Riley lying on the ground looking helpless and her stomach was covered in blood.

He scooped her up in his arms and ran his hand though her hair. His eyes were watery, and his heart was breaking. "Riley...Baby it's me. Please say something."

Riley looked at him weakly. "L-Lucas?"

He kisses her forehead, "Riley, you need to stay with me okay?"

"I-I don't think I can."

He looked at her helplessly. "Yes you can. Alright? I'm going to take you to the hospital and you're going to be okay."

She slowly place her hand on his cheek. "I love you." She whispered as she close her eyes.

Lucas eyes wide in horror. "No, no! Riley wake up! You need to stay with me. Riley!"

But it was too late. "Riley." His voice crack and tears were falling.

He held her tight. This can't be happening. He can't lose her. He just can't.

Soon, everything faded.

Lucas then found himself in his room. His heart was beating fast and he sighed. It was just a dream. A horrible dream. But why did it felt so real? He look at his clock. It read "2:00am"

He got up and change. He didn't care what time it was. He had to see her.

Riley woke up at the sound of a tapping noise coming from her window. She went by her window and was a little shocked to see it was Lucas, wondering why he is here in the middle of the night.

She open her window and let him in. "Lucas? What are you doing-" but she didn't finish her sentence since Lucas pulled her into a protective hug. Riley hugs him back.

He pulls away and place his hands on her cheeks. "I just had to see you." He kiss her forehead. "I just wanted to make sure you were okay."

Riley give him a confused look. "Okay? Lucas, what are you talking about?"

He sighed and sat on her bed. Riley sat next to him. "It was just this dream I had... I didn't know where I was. And I heard you scream and gun shots were fire and I ran as fast as I can, and that's when I found you, lying on ground. And you were slowly d-dieing and I-I couldn't do anything. You just look so helpless and next thing you know, you were gone." His voice crack.

She touch his cheek and looked at him with such love and concern. "It's okay. It was just a dream. I'm right here."

Lucas smile weakly and ran his hand though her hair. "I know, but it felt so real. And just the thought of you looking so helpless and dying.. I just...I was scared that I was I was going to lose you."

"You're not going to lose me Lucas. I'm right here. I'm not going anywhere."

He smiled and wrapped his arm around her as she lay her head on his shoulder. "You know I love you right."

She giggle and look at him. "Of course I do. I love you too."

He smile widened and held her close, not wanting to let her go.
